Please note the clearing of the current version of the affected indices will be halted today at 8:00 PM EST. The first trade date of the new version of the affected indices will be Friday, March 6, 2015.

The Final Processing Date for this credit event will be Friday, March 6, 2015. The Final Processing will entail the following:

- CME Clearing will migrate the open interest in the current version of the affected indices to the new version of the affected indices.
- CME Clearing will calculate and process the final compensation and coupon amounts. The credit event cash flows will be reflected on the end of day credit event reports, FIXML trade registers and positions summaries for Friday, March 6, 2015.

IMPORTANT: CME Front-End Clearing (FEC) users have the ability to transfer positions in the old version of the affected indices on Final Processing Date; however, CME Clearing advises not to process any transfers in the old version of the affected indices on Final Processing Date. If a transfer is performed in an old version of an affected index, CME Clearing will need to unwind the transfer.

The Auction Settlement Date for this credit event will be Monday, March 9, 2015.
