An interview with the Portfolio Managers

Q. How would you describe the economic environment during the reporting period?

A. While the overall US economy continued to grow, the pace of the expansion was mixed during the reporting period. Looking back, the Commerce Department reported 2.0% gross domestic product ("GDP") growth in the US for the first quarter of 2012, followed by 1.3% over the second quarter of 2012. On November 29, 2012, after the Funds' reporting period had ended, the Commerce Department's second estimate for third quarter 2012 GDP growth came in at 2.7%.

Q. How did the Federal Reserve Board (the "Fed") react to the economic environment?

A. Given considerably slower-than-anticipated economic growth, the Fed kept the federal funds rate at an extremely low level of between 0.00% and 0.25% during the period, and announced its intention to maintain this rate through mid-2015. Additionally, in an attempt to stimulate the economy and keep longer term interest rates low, the Fed previously announced a plan to purchase $400 billion of longer term Treasury securities and to sell an equal amount of shorter term Treasury securities (dubbed "Operation Twist") by June 2012. By period end, the Fed had extended this June deadline through to the end of 2012. In mid-September, the Fed introduced an anticipated third round of quantitative easing, ("QE3"), which involves purchasing $40 billion of agency mortgage-backed securities on an open-ended basis each month. The Fed further noted that it would be willing to buy additional assets if it saw no improvement in the job market.

Q. Given that the Funds are "feeder funds," how were the portfolios in which they invest managed during the reporting period?

- A. Each fund is a "feeder fund," investing all of its assets in "Master Funds"—the Prime Master Fund, the Treasury Master Fund and the Tax-Free Master Fund, respectively. As always, quality and liquidity remained paramount in our management process for the Master Funds.
- The weighted average maturity ("WAM") for the Prime Master Fund in which UBS Select Prime Preferred Fund invests was 50 days when the reporting period began. Over the period, we tactically adjusted the Master Fund's WAM. Toward the latter part of the period, concerns regarding the ongoing challenges in Europe were overshadowed by QE3. Thus, in anticipation of further downward pressure on short-term interest rates with QE3, we increased the Master Fund's WAM in September. At October 31, 2012, the Master Fund's WAM was 54 days.

At the issuer level, we maintained a high level of diversification, investing in smaller positions with the goals of reducing risk and keeping the Master Fund highly liquid. To that end, we typically purchased up to 3% in single nongovernment issuers throughout the reporting period. (The Master Fund is generally able to hold up to 5% in any one issuer, subject to certain exceptions.)

At the security level, we increased the Master Fund's exposure to commercial paper, time deposits and US government and agency obligations. In contrast, we decreased the Fund's exposure to repurchase agreements, certificates of deposit and short-term corporate obligations. (Repurchase agreements are transactions that require the seller of a security to buy it back at a predetermined time and price, or upon demand.)

- The WAM for the Master Fund in which UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund invests was 46 days when the reporting period began. Over the review period, the WAM was increased and at period end, on October 31, 2012, it was 52 days. At the security level, we modestly increased the Master Fund's exposure to repurchase agreements (backed by Treasury obligations) and reduced its direct exposure to Treasury obligations.
- The WAM for the Master Fund in which UBS Select Tax-Free Preferred Fund invests was 20 days when the reporting period began. We tactically adjusted the Master Fund's WAM based on market conditions and seasonality factors within the tax-exempt market. At the end of the reporting period, the Master Fund's WAM was 34 days. Given our expectations for continued low interest rates. we looked to extend the Master Fund's WAM in an attempt to lock in yield and add additional diversification to the portfolio. This was largely accomplished through the purchase of municipal notes and commercial paper with maturities of up to one year. From a sector perspective, we continued to focus our purchases on high-quality municipal issuances of both state and local general obligation debt, as well as essential service revenue obligations. The Master Fund continues to have limited, indirect exposure in the European banking industry, mainly from municipal securities with demand and/or quarantee features linked to banks in the UK and Germany. For the six-month period as a whole, the Master Fund modestly increased its allocation to municipal bonds and notes, while paring its exposure to commercial paper.

Q. What factors do you believe will affect the Funds over the coming months?

A. Although overall economic growth in the US economy was mixed during the reporting period, we believe it has enough momentum to continue expanding during the remainder of the year. However it's likely that growth will be far from robust. We also believe the Fed will maintain its accommodative monetary policy and the European sovereign debt crisis will continue to trigger periods of market volatility. Finally, continuing regulatory uncertainty has cast a shadow over money market funds for some time now, and will likely continue to do so. Against this backdrop, we anticipate continuing to manage the Funds focusing on risk and liquidity.

We thank you for your continued support and welcome any comments or questions you may have. For additional information on the UBS family of funds,* please contact your financial advisor, or visit us at www.ubs.com/globalam-us.

This letter is intended to assist shareholders in understanding how the Funds performed during the six months ended October 31, 2012. Understanding your Fund's expenses (unaudited)

As a shareholder of a Fund, you incur ongoing costs, including management fees and other Fund expenses. These examples are intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in a Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds. Since each Fund is a "feeder fund" that invests in a corresponding "master fund," the expense information below reflects the combined effect of the two levels of expenses and not just those imposed directly at the feeder fund level.

The examples below are based on an investment of $1,000 invested at the beginning of the period and held for the entire period, May 1, 2012 to October 31, 2012.

Actual expenses

The first line in the table below for each Fund provides information about actual account values and actual expenses. You may use the information in this line, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over a period. Simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number in the first line under the heading entitled "Expenses paid during period" to estimate the expenses you paid on your account during this period.

Hypothetical example for comparison purposes

The second line in the table below for each Fund provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate your actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare the ongoing costs of investing in the Fund and other funds. To do so, compare these 5% hypothetical examples with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of other funds.

Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs. Therefore, the second line in the table for each Fund is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds, if those other funds impose transactional costs—for example, exchange fees. In addition, if those transactional costs were included, your costs for those other funds would have been higher.

² "Actual – Ending account value" may not be reflective of a shareholder's actual investment experience during periods of very low interest rates. While the Fund declares dividends daily and pays them monthly, the amounts are rounded to the nearest $0.01 on a daily basis with respect to each investor's account. As a result, investors whose fund account balances earn daily dividends that total less than one half a cent on any given day will not accrue any dividends on that day.

³ Expenses are equal to the Fund's annualized net expense ratio, multiplied by the average account value over the period, multiplied by 184 divided by 365 (to reflect the one-half year period).

Organization and significant accounting policies

UBS Select Prime Preferred Fund ("Prime Preferred Fund"), UBS Select Treasury Preferred Fund ("Treasury Preferred Fund"), and UBS Select Tax-Free Preferred Fund ("Tax-Free Preferred Fund") (each a "Fund", collectively, the "Funds") are each registered with the US Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended ("1940 Act"), as a diversified series of UBS Money Series (the "Trust"), an open-end management investment company organized as a Delaware statutory trust on April 29, 1998. Each of the Funds commenced operations on August 28, 2007. The Trust is a series mutual fund with fourteen series. The financial statements for the other series of the Trust are not included herein.

Prime Preferred Fund, Treasury Preferred Fund, and Tax-Free Preferred Fund are "feeder funds" that invest substantially all of their assets in "master funds"—Prime Master Fund, Treasury Master Fund and Tax-Free Master Fund, respectively (each a "Master Fund" and each a diversified series of Master Trust, an open-end investment company registered with the SEC under the 1940 Act). The feeder funds and their respective Master Funds have the same investment objectives. The performance of each Fund is directly affected by the performance of the corresponding Master Fund. The value of such investments reflects the Fund's proportionate interest in the net assets of its corresponding Master Fund (41.56% for Prime Preferred Fund, 31.70% for Treasury Preferred Fund and 14.16% for Tax-Free Preferred Fund at October 31, 2012). All of the net investment income and realized and unrealized gains and losses from investment activities of a Master Fund are allocated pro rata, based on respective ownership interests, among the corresponding Fund and other investors in the Master Fund (e.g., other feeder funds) at the time of such determination. The financial statements of the Master Funds, including the Statement of net assets. are included elsewhere in this report and should be read in connection with the Fund's financial statements.

The Trust accounts separately for the assets, liabilities and operations of each series. Expenses directly attributable to each series are charged to that series' operations; expenses which are applicable to all series are allocated among them on a pro rata basis.

Each Fund attempts to maintain a stable net asset value of $1.00 per share; each Fund has adopted certain investment, portfolio valuation and dividend and distribution policies in an attempt to enable it to do so. As with any money market fund, there is no assurance, however, that the Fund will be able to maintain a stable net asset value of $1.00 per share.

In the normal course of business the Funds may enter into contracts that contain a variety of representations that provide indemnification for certain liabilities. The Funds' maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Funds that have not yet occurred. However, the Funds have not had prior claims or losses pursuant to these contracts and expect the risk of loss to be remote.

The Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") is the exclusive reference of authoritative US generally accepted accounting principles ("US GAAP") recognized by the FASB to be applied by nongovernmental entities. Rules and interpretive releases of the SEC under authority of federal laws are also sources of authoritative US GAAP for SEC registrants. The Funds' financial statements are prepared in accordance with US GAAP, which may require the use of management estimates and assumptions. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies:

Valuation of investments

Each Fund records its investment in its corresponding Master Fund at fair value. Securities held by the Master Funds are valued as indicated in the Master Funds' Notes to financial statements, which are included elsewhere in this report.

Dividends and distributions

Dividends and distributions to shareholders are recorded on the exdividend date. The amount of dividends and distributions is determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from US GAAP. These "book/tax" differences are either considered temporary or permanent in nature. To the extent these differences are permanent in nature, such amounts are reclassified within the capital accounts based on their federal tax-basis treatment; temporary differences do not require reclassification.

Concentration of risk

The ability of the issuers of the debt securities held by the Master Funds to meet their obligations may be affected by economic and political developments, including those particular to a specific industry, country, state or region.

Administrator

UBS Global Asset Management (Americas) Inc. ("UBS Global AM") serves as administrator to each Fund pursuant to an Administration Agreement approved by the Trust's board. In accordance with the Administration Agreement, each Fund pays UBS Global AM an administration fee, which is accrued daily and paid monthly, at the annual rate of 0.08% of each Fund's average daily net assets. At October 31, 2012, Prime Preferred Fund, Treasury Preferred Fund and Tax-Free Preferred Fund owed UBS Global AM $603,939, $347,406, and $15,013, respectively, for administrative services.

In exchange for these fees, UBS Global AM has agreed to bear all of the Funds' expenses other than interest, taxes, extraordinary costs and the cost of securities purchased and sold by the Funds, including any transaction costs. Although UBS Global AM is not obligated to pay the fees and expenses of the Funds' independent trustees, it is contractually obligated to reduce its fee in an amount equal to those fees and expenses. UBS Global AM estimates that these fees and expenses will be less than 0.01% of each Fund's average daily net assets. At October 31, 2012, UBS Global AM owed $18,973, $11,633 and $4,585 for independent trustees fees to Prime Preferred Fund, Treasury Preferred Fund and Tax-Free Preferred Fund, respectively.

The Funds and UBS Global AM have entered into a written fee waiver agreement pursuant to which UBS Global AM is contractually obligated to waive 0.04% of its administrative fees through August 31, 2013. At October 31, 2012, UBS Global AM owed Prime Preferred Fund, Treasury Preferred Fund and Tax-Free Preferred Fund $301,972, $173,703 and $7,506 for fee waivers, respectively. For the six months ended October 31, 2012, UBS Global AM was contractually obligated to waive $1,742,489, $928,251 and $64,508 for Prime Preferred Fund, Treasury Preferred Fund and Tax-Free Preferred Fund, respectively. In addition, UBS Global AM has undertaken to waive fees in the event that Fund yields drop below a certain level. This additional undertaking is voluntary and not contractual and may be terminated at any time. At October 31, 2012, UBS Global AM owed Treasury Preferred Fund $1,408 under this additional fee waiver arrangement. For the six months ended October 31, 2012, UBS Global AM voluntarily waived an additional $164,493 and $3,647 for Treasury Preferred Fund and Tax-Free Preferred Fund, respectively. The above mentioned waivers are not subject to future recoupment.

Federal tax status

Each Fund intends to distribute substantially all of its income and to comply with the other requirements of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies. Accordingly, no provision for federal income taxes is required. In addition, by distributing during each calendar year substantially all of their net investment income, net realized capital gains and certain other amounts, if any, each Fund intends not to be subject to a federal excise tax.

The tax character of distributions paid to shareholders by Prime Preferred Fund and Treasury Preferred Fund during the six months ended October 31, 2012 and the fiscal year ended April 30, 2012 was ordinary income. The tax character of distributions paid to shareholders by Tax-Free Preferred Fund will be determined at the end of the Fund's fiscal year ending April 30, 2013. The tax character of distributions paid to shareholders by Tax-Free Preferred Fund during the fiscal year ended April 30, 2012 was 96.51% tax-exempt income, 0.88% ordinary income and 2.61% long-term capital gain.

The components of accumulated earnings (deficit) on a tax basis for the current fiscal year will be determined at the end of the Funds' fiscal year ending April 30, 2013.

As of and during the period ended October 31, 2012, the Funds did not have any liabilities for any unrecognized tax positions. The Funds recognize interest and penalties, if any, related to unrecognized tax positions as income tax expense in the Statement of operations. During the six months ended October 31, 2012, the Funds did not incur any interest or penalties.

Each of the tax years in the four year period ended April 30, 2012, remains subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service and state taxing authorities.

- ¹ Security exempt from registration pursuant to Rule 144A under the Securities Act of 1933. These securities, which represent 6.27% of net assets as of October 31, 2012, are considered liquid and may be resold in transactions exempt from registration, normally to qualified institutional buyers.
- ² The Fund does not directly own the municipal security indicated; the Fund owns an interest in a special purpose entity that, in turn, owns the underlying municipal security. The special purpose entity permits the Fund to own interests in underlying assets, but in a manner structured to provide certain advantages not inherent in the underlying bonds (e.g., enhanced liquidity, yields linked to short-term rates).

Master Trust

(Note: The expense information provided in this section is relevant for direct investors in the Master Funds. Investors in related "feeder funds" should instead focus on separate expense examples relevant to the particular feeder funds; the expense examples for the feeder funds will reflect their proportionate share of the corresponding Master Funds' expenses.)

Understanding a Master Fund's expenses (unaudited)

As an owner of a Master Fund, an investor such as a feeder fund incurs ongoing costs, including management fees and other Master Fund expenses. These examples are intended to help you understand a Master Fund investor's ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in a Master Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds.

The examples below are based on an investment of $1,000 invested at the beginning of the period and held for the entire period, May 1, 2012 to October 31, 2012.

Actual expenses

The first line in the table below for each Master Fund provides information about actual account values and actual expenses. You may use the information in this line, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over a period. Simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by 1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number in the first line under the heading entitled "Expenses paid during period" to estimate the expenses you paid on your account during this period.

Hypothetical example for comparison purposes

The second line in the table below for each Master Fund provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Master Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Master Fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate your actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare the ongoing costs of investing in the Master Fund and other funds. To do so, compare these 5% hypothetical examples with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of other funds.

Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs. Therefore, the second line in the table for each Master Fund is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds, if those other funds impose transactional costs—for example, exchange fees. In addition, if those transactional costs were included, your costs for those other funds would have been higher.

Organization and significant accounting policies

Prime Master Fund, Treasury Master Fund and Tax-Free Master Fund (each a "Master Fund", collectively, the "Master Funds") are each registered with the US Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a diversified series of Master Trust, an open-end management investment company organized as a Delaware statutory trust on June 12, 2007.

Each Master Fund commenced operations on August 28, 2007. On August 28, 2007, the Prime Master Fund and Treasury Master Fund received substantially all of the net assets of UBS Select Prime Institutional Fund (then known as UBS Select Money Market Fund) and UBS Select Treasury Institutional Fund (then known as UBS Select Treasury Fund) (open-end registered investment companies affiliated with the Master Funds) in exchange for ownership interests in the respective Master Funds.

In the normal course of business the Master Funds may enter into contracts that contain a variety of representations that provide indemnification for certain liabilities. The Master Funds' maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Master Funds that have not yet occurred. However, the Master Funds have not had prior claims or losses pursuant to these contracts and expect the risk of loss to be remote.

Master Trust accounts separately for the assets, liabilities and operations of each series. Expenses directly attributable to each series are charged to that series' operations; expenses which are applicable to all series are allocated among them on a pro rata basis.

The Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") is the exclusive reference of authoritative US generally accepted accounting principles ("US GAAP") recognized by the FASB to be applied by nongovernmental entities. Rules and interpretive releases of the SEC under authority of federal laws are also sources of authoritative US GAAP for SEC registrants. The Master Funds' financial statements are prepared in accordance with US GAAP, which may require the use of management estimates and assumptions. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies:

Valuation of investments

Investments are valued at amortized cost unless Master Trust's Board of Trustees (the "Master Board") determines that this does not represent fair value. Periodic review and monitoring of the valuation of securities held by the Master Funds is performed in an effort to ensure that amortized cost approximates market value.

US GAAP requires disclosure regarding the various inputs that are used in determining the value of each of the Master Fund's investments. These inputs are summarized into the three broad levels listed below:

Level 1—Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical investments.

Level 2—Other significant observable inputs, including but not limited to, quoted prices for similar investments, interest rates, prepayment speeds and credit risks.

Level 3—Unobservable inputs inclusive of each of the Master Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments.

In accordance with the requirements of US GAAP, a fair value hierarchy has been included near the end of each Master Fund's Statement of net assets.

In December 2011, FASB issued Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") No. 2011-11 "Disclosures about Offsetting Assets and Liabilities" ("ASU 2011-11"). These disclosure requirements are intended to help investors and other financial statement users to better assess the effect or potential effect of offsetting arrangements on a company's financial position. They also improve transparency in the reporting of how companies mitigate credit risk, including disclosure of related collateral pledged or received. In addition ASU 2011-11 facilitates comparison between those entities that prepare their financial statements on the basis of US GAAP and those entities that prepare their financial statements on the basis of International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS"). ASU 2011-11 requires entities to: disclose both gross and net information about both instruments and transactions eligible for offset in the financial statements; and disclose instruments and transactions subject to an agreement similar to a master netting agreement. ASU 2011-11 is effective for fiscal years beginning on or after January 1, 2013, and interim periods within those annual periods. At this time, management is evaluating the implications of ASU 2011-11 and its impact on the financial statements.

Repurchase agreements

The Master Funds may purchase securities or other obligations from a bank or securities dealer (or its affiliate), subject to the seller's agreement to repurchase them at an agreed upon date (or upon demand) and price. The Master Funds maintain custody of the underlying obligations prior to their repurchase, either through their regular custodian or through a special "tri-party" custodian or sub-custodian that maintains a separate account for both the Master Funds and their counterparty. The underlying collateral is valued daily in an effort to ensure that the value, including accrued interest, is at least equal to the repurchase price. In the event of default of the obligation to repurchase, the Master Funds generally have the right to liquidate the collateral and apply the proceeds in satisfaction of the obligation. Repurchase agreements involving obligations other than US government securities (such as commercial paper, corporate bonds, equities and mortgage loans) may be subject to special risks and may not have the benefit of certain protections in the event of counterparty insolvency. If the seller (or seller's guarantor, if any) becomes insolvent, the Master Funds may suffer delays, costs and possible losses in connection with the disposition or retention of the collateral. Under certain circumstances, in the event of default or bankruptcy by the other party to the agreement, realization and/ or retention of the collateral may be subject to legal proceedings. The Master Funds may participate in joint repurchase agreement transactions with other funds managed or advised by UBS Global Asset Management (Americas) Inc. ("UBS Global AM").

Notes to financial statements (unaudited)

Under certain circumstances, a Master Fund may engage in a repurchase agreement transaction with a yield of zero in order to invest cash amounts remaining in its portfolio at the end of the day in order to avoid having the Master Fund assessed a fee for uninvested cash held in a business account at a bank.

Investment transactions and investment income

Investment transactions are recorded on the trade date. Realized gains and losses from investment transactions are calculated using the identified cost method. Interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Discounts are accreted and premiums are amortized as adjustments to interest income and the identified cost of investments.

Concentration of risk

The ability of the issuers of the debt securities held by the Master Funds to meet their obligations may be affected by economic and political developments, including those particular to a specific industry, country, state or region.

Investment advisor and administrator and other transactions with affiliates

The Master Board has approved an investment advisory and administration contract ("Management Contract") with respect to each Master Fund under which UBS Global AM serves as investment advisor and administrator. In accordance with the Management Contract, each Master Fund pays UBS Global AM an investment advisory and administration fee, which is accrued daily and paid monthly, in accordance with the following schedule:

Average daily net assets	Annual rate
Up to $30 billion	0.1000%
In excess of $30 billion up to $40 billion	0.0975
In excess of $40 billion up to $50 billion	0.0950
In excess of $50 billion up to $60 billion	0.0925
Over $60 billion	0.0900

Notes to financial statements (unaudited)

At October 31, 2012, Prime Master Fund, Treasury Master Fund and Tax-Free Master Fund owed UBS Global AM $1,715,097, $1,379,147 and $135,380, respectively, for investment advisory and administration fees. In exchange for these fees, UBS Global AM has agreed to bear all of the Master Funds' expenses other than taxes, extraordinary costs and the cost of securities purchased and sold by the Master Funds, including any transaction costs. Although UBS Global AM is not obligated to pay the fees and expenses of the Master Funds' independent trustees, it is contractually obligated to reduce its management fee in an amount equal to those fees and expenses. UBS Global AM estimates that these fees and expenses will be less than 0.01% of each Master Fund's average daily net assets. At October 31, 2012, UBS Global AM owed $31,774, $21,234 and $6,650 for the independent trustees fees to Prime Master Fund, Treasury Master Fund and Tax-Free Master Fund. respectively. In addition, UBS Global AM has undertaken to waive fees in the event that the current Master Fund yields drop below a certain level. This additional undertaking is voluntary and not contractual and may be terminated at any time. For the six months ended October 31, 2012, UBS Global AM voluntarily waived $3.452 for Treasury Master Fund for that purpose: such amount is not subject to future recoupment.

Under normal conditions, the Master Funds invest cash collateral from securities lending activities into an affiliated private money market fund, UBS Private Money Market Fund LLC ("Private Money Market"), which operates in compliance with most of the substantive provisions of Rule 2a-7 of the 1940 Act. Private Money Market is managed by UBS Global AM and is currently offered as a cash management option to mutual funds and certain other accounts managed by the Master Funds' investment manager. UBS Global AM acts as managing member and receives a management fee from Private Money Market payable monthly in arrears at the annual rate of 0.10% of Private Money Market's average daily members' equity, minus the aggregate operating expenses of, and incurred by, Private Money Market during each such related month, not including investment expenses (including brokerage commissions, taxes, interest charges and other costs with respect to transactions in securities) and extraordinary expenses including litigation expenses, if any. UBS Global AM may, in its sole discretion, waive all or any portion of the management fee to which it may be entitled from time to time in order to maintain operating expenses or net yields at a certain level. Distributions received from Private Money Market, if any, net of fee rebates paid to borrowers, would be reflected as securities lending income in the Statement of operations.

Additional information regarding compensation to affiliate of a board member

Professor Meyer Feldberg serves as a senior advisor to Morgan Stanley, a financial services firm with which the Master Funds may conduct transactions, resulting in him being an interested trustee of the Master Funds. The Master Funds have been informed that Professor Feldberg's role at Morgan Stanley does not involve matters directly affecting any UBS funds. Portfolio transactions are executed through Morgan Stanley based on that firm's ability to provide best execution of the transactions. During the six months ended October 31, 2012, the Master Funds purchased and sold certain securities (e.g., fixed income securities) in principal trades with Morgan Stanley, having aggregate values as follows:

Prime Master Fund	$3,538,156,441
Treasury Master Fund	512,804,728
Tax-Free Master Fund	263,678,121

Morgan Stanley received compensation in connection with these trades, which may have been in the form of a "mark-up" or "mark-down" of the price of the securities, a fee from the issuer for maintaining a commercial paper program, or some other form of compensation. Although the precise amount of this compensation is not generally known by the Master Fund's investment advisor, it is believed that under normal circumstances it represents a small portion of the total value of the transactions.

Securities lending

Each Master Fund may lend securities up to 33⅓% of its total assets to qualified broker-dealers or institutional investors. The loans are secured at all times by cash, US government securities or irrevocable letters of credit in an amount at least equal to the market value of the securities loaned, plus accrued interest and dividends, determined on a daily basis and adjusted accordingly. A Master Fund will regain ownership of loaned securities to exercise certain beneficial rights; however, a Master Fund may bear the risk of delay in recovery of, or even loss of rights in, the securities loaned should the borrower fail financially. A Master Fund receives compensation for lending its securities from interest or dividends earned on the cash, US government securities or irrevocable letters of credit held as collateral, net of fee rebates paid to the borrower plus reasonable administrative and custody fees. State Street Bank and Trust Company serves as the Master Funds' lending agent. At October 31, 2012, the Master Funds did not have any securities on loan.

Bank line of credit

Tax-Free Master Fund participates with other funds managed or advised by UBS Global AM in a $100 million credit facility with State Street Bank and Trust Company ("Committed Credit Facility"), to be utilized for temporary financing until the settlement of sales or purchases of portfolio securities, the repurchase or redemption of interests of Tax-Free Master Fund at the request of the interest holders and other temporary or emergency purposes. Under the Committed Credit Facility arrangement, Tax-Free Master Fund has agreed to pay commitment fees, pro rata, based on the relative asset size of the funds in the Committed Credit Facility, which fees are paid by UBS Global AM, not Tax-Free Master Fund, pursuant to the Management Contract. Tax-Free Master Fund borrows based upon prevailing rates in effect at the time of borrowing. For the six months ended October 31, 2012, Tax-Free Master Fund did not borrow under the Committed Credit Facility.

Federal tax status

Each Master Fund is considered a non-publicly traded partnership for federal income tax purposes under the Internal Revenue Code; therefore, no federal tax provision is necessary. As such, each investor in a Master Fund is treated as owning its proportionate share of the net assets, income, expenses, and realized and unrealized gains and losses of the Master Fund. UBS Global AM intends that each Master Fund's assets, income and distributions will be managed in such a way that an investor in a Master Fund will be able to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company by investing its net assets through the Master Fund.

As of and during the six months ended October 31, 2012, the Master Funds did not have any liabilities for any uncertain tax positions. The Master Funds recognize interest and penalties, if any, related to uncertain tax positions as income tax expense in the Statement of operations. During the six months ended October 31, 2012, the Master Funds did not incur any interest or penalties.

Each of the tax years in the four year period ended April 30, 2012, remains subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service and state taxing authorities.

Board approval of management contract (unaudited)

Background—At a meeting of the board of Master Trust (the "Trust") on July 17-18, 2012, the members of the board, including the trustees who are not "interested persons" of the Trust ("Independent Trustees"), as defined in the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "1940 Act"), considered and approved the continuance of the management contract (the "Management Contract") between UBS Global Asset Management (Americas) Inc. ("UBS Global AM") and the Trust, with respect to Prime Master Fund ("Prime Master"), Treasury Master Fund ("Treasury Master") and Tax-Free Master Fund ("Tax-Free Master" and, together with Prime Master and Treasury Master, each a "Master Fund" and together the "Master Funds"). In preparing for the meeting, the board members had requested and received extensive information from UBS Global AM to assist them. The board received and considered a variety of information about UBS Global AM as well as the management arrangements for the Master Funds. The Independent Trustees initially discussed the materials provided by management prior to the scheduled board meeting. The Independent Trustees also met in executive session after management's presentation was completed to review the disclosure that had been made to them at the meeting. At all of these sessions the Independent Trustees were joined by their independent legal counsel. The Independent Trustees also received a memorandum from their independent legal counsel discussing the duties of board members in considering approval of advisory and administration agreements.

In its consideration of the approval of the Management Contract, the board considered the following factors:

Nature, extent and quality of the services under the Management Contract—The board received and considered information regarding the nature, extent and quality of management services provided to the Master Funds by UBS Global AM under the Management Contract during the past year. The board also considered the nature, extent and quality of administrative, distribution, and shareholder services performed by UBS Global AM and its affiliates for the Master Funds and the corresponding SEC-registered "feeder funds" that invest in the

Board approval of management contract (unaudited)

Master Funds (the "Feeder Funds"). The board noted that it received information at regular meetings throughout the year regarding the services rendered by UBS Global AM concerning the management of each Master Fund's and Feeder Fund's affairs and UBS Global AM's role in coordinating providers of other services to the Master Funds and the Feeder Funds, including custody, accounting and transfer agency services. The board's evaluation of the services provided by UBS Global AM took into account the board's knowledge and familiarity gained as board members of funds in the UBS New York fund complex, including the scope and quality of UBS Global AM's investment advisory and other capabilities and the quality of its administrative and other services. The board observed that the scope of services provided by UBS Global AM had expanded over time as a result of regulatory and other developments, including maintaining and monitoring its own and the Master Funds' and the Feeder Funds' expanded compliance programs.

The board had available to it the qualifications, backgrounds and responsibilities of the Master Funds' and the Feeder Funds' senior personnel and the Master Funds' portfolio managers primarily responsible for day-to-day portfolio management and recognized that many of these persons report to the board regularly and that at each regular meeting the board receives a detailed report on each Master Fund's and corresponding Feeder Fund's performance. The board also considered, based on its knowledge of UBS Global AM and its affiliates, the financial resources available to UBS Global AM and its parent organization. UBS AG. In that regard, the board received extensive financial information regarding UBS Global AM and noted that it was a wholly owned, indirect subsidiary of one of the largest financial services firms in the world. It was also noted that UBS Global AM had approximately $151 billion in assets under management as of March 31, 2012 and was part of the UBS Global Asset Management Division, which had approximately $620 billion in assets under management worldwide as of March 31, 2012. The board was also cognizant of, and considered, the regulatory and litigation actions and investigations occurring in the past few years involving UBS AG, UBS Global AM and certain of their affiliates.

Board approval of management contract (unaudited)

The board concluded that, overall, it was satisfied with the nature, extent and quality of services provided (and expected to be provided) under the Management Contract.

Management fees and expense ratios—In conducting its review, the board noted that under the master-feeder structure, each Master Fund pays an investment advisory and administration fee (the "Contractual Management Fee") to UBS Global AM, and, in turn, each Feeder Fund bears its corresponding Master Fund's expenses in proportion to its investment in its corresponding Master Fund. Therefore, in making its determination regarding each Master Fund's fees, the board assessed (i) each Master Fund's Contractual Management Fee, Actual Management Fee (defined below) and overall expenses, (ii) each Feeder Fund's portion of its Master Fund's Contractual Management Fee and Actual Management Fee (defined below), and (iii) the Feeder Fund's overall expenses.

In addition to reviewing each Feeder Fund's portion of its corresponding Master Fund's Contractual Management Fee, the board also reviewed and considered any fee waiver and/or expense reimbursement arrangement and considered the actual fee rate (after taking any waivers and/or reimbursements into account) (the "Actual Management Fee"). The board noted that management proposed to extend the contractual fee waiver and/or expense reimbursement arrangements in place for the Prime Preferred Feeder Fund, Treasury Preferred Feeder Fund, Tax-Free Preferred Feeder Fund, Prime Investor Feeder Fund. Treasury Investor Feeder Fund, Tax-Free Investor Feeder Fund, Prime Capital Feeder Fund, Treasury Capital Feeder Fund and Tax-Free Capital Feeder Fund through August 31, 2013. The board also noted that management would pass through to the benefit of the Prime Investor Feeder Fund, Treasury Investor Feeder Fund and Tax-Free Investor Feeder Fund certain waivers from financial intermediaries. The board also took note of UBS Global AM's voluntary undertaking to waive fees/reimburse expenses in the event that current Fund yields drop below a certain level. The board noted that such waiver/reimbursement arrangements are not contractually imposed and could change or terminate at any time in the future.

Board approval of management contract (unaudited)

The board also received and considered information comparing each Master Fund's Contractual Management Fee, Actual Management Fee and overall expenses and each Feeder Fund's portion of its corresponding Master Fund's Contractual Management Fee and Actual Management Fee and each Feeder Fund's overall expenses with those of funds in a group of funds selected and provided by Lipper, Inc. ("Lipper"), an independent provider of investment company data (the "Expense Group").

In connection with its consideration of the management fees, the board also received information from UBS Global AM with respect to fees paid by institutional or separate accounts; however, in management's view, such fee information was not very relevant to the Master Funds because, among other reasons, separately managed and institutional accounts with a "cash" mandate (a) were not subject to all of the constraints of Rule 2a-7 under the 1940 Act to which the Master Funds are subject and (b) do not involve the management responsibilities attendant to the operation of a 1940 Act regulated fund, and, therefore, were not totally comparable. The board also received information on fees charged to other mutual funds managed by UBS Global AM.

Prime Master

Prime Institutional Feeder Fund, Prime Preferred Feeder Fund, Prime Investor Feeder Fund and Prime Capital Feeder Fund

The comparative Lipper information showed that, with the exception of the Prime Institutional Feeder Fund's Actual Management Fee and total expenses, the Prime Master Fund's Contractual Management Fee, Actual Management Fee and overall expenses were all at or below its corresponding Expense Group median with the related Feeder Funds' fees taken into account. The Prime Institutional Feeder Fund's Contractual Management Fee was in the second quintile and its Actual Management Fee and total expenses were in the fourth quintile in the Prime Institutional Feeder Fund's Expense Group for the comparison periods utilized in the Lipper report. (The first quintile represents that 20% of the funds in the Expense Group with the lowest fees or expenses, as applicable, and the fifth quintile represents that 20% of the funds in the Expense Group with the highest fees or expenses, as applicable.) The Prime Preferred Feeder Fund's Contractual Management Fee was in the second quintile and its Actual Management Fee and total expenses were in the first quintile in the Prime Preferred Feeder Fund's Expense Group for the comparison periods utilized in the Lipper report. The Prime Investor Feeder Fund's Contractual Management Fee and total expenses were in the first quintile and its Actual Management Fee was in the third quintile (at the Expense Group median) in the Prime Investor Feeder Fund's Expense Group for the comparison periods utilized in the Lipper report. It was noted that although detailed historical information specifically for the Prime Capital Feeder Fund, which commenced operations on July 16. 2012 (after the comparisons periods utilized in the Lipper report), was not included in the Lipper report, its fee structure paralleled that of the Prime Investor Feeder Fund in many respects and had a lower total annual fund operating expense ratio.

Management noted the discrepancy between the Prime Institutional Feeder Fund's Contractual and Actual Management Fee rankings, explaining that due to the fund's low "unitary" fee structure, whereby the advisor pays for all ordinary expenses, it did not have to engage in the same level of yield floor waiving as did many of its peers. Management noted that due to the fund's "unitary" fee structure, comparisons would best be performed on a total expense basis; management further observed that the Prime Institutional Feeder Fund's total expenses, although ranking in the fourth quintile, were less than half a basis point (0.004%) from the median.

Treasury Master

Treasury Institutional Feeder Fund, Treasury Preferred Feeder Fund, Treasury Investor Feeder Fund and Treasury Capital Feeder Fund

The comparative Lipper information showed that, with the exception of the Treasury Investor Feeder Fund's Actual Management Fee, the Treasury Master Fund's Contractual Management Fee, Actual Management Fee and overall expenses were all at or below its corresponding Expense Group median with the related Feeder Funds' fees taken into account.

Board approval of management contract (unaudited)

The Treasury Institutional Feeder Fund's Contractual Management Fee was in the second quintile and its Actual Management Fee and total expenses were in the first quintile in the Treasury Institutional Feeder Fund's Expense Group for the comparison periods utilized in the Lipper report. The Treasury Preferred Feeder Fund's Contractual Management Fee was in the second quintile and its Actual Management Fee and total expenses were in the first quintile in the Treasury Preferred Feeder Fund's Expense Group for the comparison periods utilized in the Lipper report. The Treasury Investor Feeder Fund's Contractual Management Fee and total expenses were in the first quintile and its Actual Management Fee was in the fourth quintile in the Treasury Investor Feeder Fund's Expense Group for the comparison periods utilized in the Lipper report. It was noted that although detailed historical information specifically for the Treasury Capital Feeder Fund, which commenced operations on July 16. 2012 (after the comparisons periods utilized in the Lipper report), was not included in the Lipper report, its fee structure paralleled that of the Treasury Investor Feeder Fund in many respects and had a lower total annual fund operating expense ratio.

Management noted the discrepancy between the Treasury Investor Feeder Fund's Contractual and Actual Management Fee rankings. Management explained that the fund had a lower expense ratio than the peer group and had to waive less management fees than most of its Expense Group peers to keep its net yield at a certain level, which resulted in higher Actual Management Fees relative to peers while total expenses were one basis point (0.010%) below the median. Management stated that it believed the fund was generally in line with its peers.

Tax-Free Master

Tax-Free Institutional Feeder Fund, Tax-Free Preferred Feeder Fund, Tax-Free Investor Feeder Fund and Tax-Free Capital Feeder Fund

The comparative Lipper information showed that, with the exception of the Tax-Free Investor Feeder Fund's Contractual Management Fee, the Tax-Free Master Fund's Contractual Management Fee, Actual Management Fee and overall expenses were all at or below its corresponding Expense Group median with the related Feeder Funds' fees taken into account. The Tax-Free Institutional Feeder Fund's Contractual Management Fee and total expenses were in the first quintile and its Actual Management Fee was in the second quintile in the Tax-Free Institutional Feeder Fund's Expense Group for the comparison periods utilized in the Lipper report. The Tax-Free Preferred Feeder Fund's Contractual Management Fee. Actual Management Fee and total expenses were in the first quintile in the Tax-Free Preferred Feeder Fund's Expense Group for the comparison periods utilized in the Lipper report. The Tax-Free Investor Feeder Fund's Contractual Management Fee was in the third quintile and its Actual Management Fee and total expenses were in the first quintile in the Tax-Free Investor Feeder Fund's Expense Group for the comparison periods utilized in the Lipper report. It was noted that although detailed historical information specifically for the Tax-Free Capital Feeder Fund, which commenced operations on July 16, 2012 (after the comparisons periods utilized in the Lipper report), was not included in the Lipper report, its fee structure paralleled that of the Tax-Free Investor Feeder Fund in many respects and had a lower total annual fund operating expense ratio.

Board approval of management contract (unaudited)

In light of the foregoing, the board determined that the management fees for each of Prime Master, Treasury Master and Tax-Free Master were reasonable in light of the nature, extent and quality of services provided and proposed to be provided to each Master Fund under the Management Contract.

Fund performance—In considering each Master Fund's performance, the board received and considered (a) annualized total return information of each Feeder Fund compared to other funds (the "Performance Universe") selected by Lipper over the one-, three-, five- and ten-year periods, as applicable to a Feeder Fund, and since inception, in each case ended April 30, 2012 and (b) annualized performance information for each year in the ten-year (or shorter) period ended April 30, 2012. The board was provided with a description of the methodology Lipper used to determine the similarity of each Feeder Fund with the funds included in its Performance Universe. The board noted that each Feeder Fund's performance is correlated with its corresponding Master Fund's performance, with the only difference being the administrative, distribution and shareholder service fees or other expenses paid at the Feeder Fund level.

Prime Master

Prime Institutional Feeder Fund, Prime Preferred Feeder Fund and Prime Investor Feeder Fund

The comparative Lipper information showed that the Prime Institutional Feeder Fund's performance was in the first quintile for the one-, three-, five- and ten-year periods and since inception. (The first quintile represents that 20% of the funds in the Performance Universe with the best relative performance, and the fifth quintile represents that 20% of the funds in the Performance Universe with the worst relative performance.) The Prime Preferred Feeder Fund's performance was in the first quintile for the one- and three-year periods and since inception. The Prime Investor Feeder Fund's performance was in the second quintile for the one-year period, in the third quintile for the three-year period and in the first quintile since inception. It was noted that the Prime Investor Feeder Fund's performance was at the median for the three-year period when it was in the third quintile.

Treasury Master

Treasury Institutional Feeder Fund, Treasury Preferred Feeder Fund and Treasury Investor Feeder Fund

The comparative Lipper information showed that the Treasury Institutional Feeder Fund's performance was in the first quintile for the one-, three- and five-year periods and since inception. The Treasury Preferred Feeder Fund's performance was in the first quintile for the one- and three-year periods and since inception. The Treasury Investor

Board approval of management contract (unaudited)

Feeder Fund's performance was in the first quintile for the oneyear period and in the second quintile for the three-year period and since inception.

Tax-Free Master

Tax-Free Institutional Feeder Fund, Tax-Free Preferred Feeder Fund and Tax-Free Investor Feeder Fund

The comparative Lipper information showed that the Tax-Free Institutional Feeder Fund's performance was in the second quintile for the one-and three-year periods and in the third quintile since inception. The Tax-Free Preferred Feeder Fund's performance was in the second quintile for the one- and three-year periods and since inception. The Tax-Free Investor Feeder Fund's performance was in the second quintile for the one-year period, in the third quintile for the three-year period and in the fourth quintile since inception. The board noted that in each of the periods for which Tax-Free Institutional Feeder Fund, Tax-Free Preferred Feeder Fund and Tax-Free Investor Feeder Fund posted below median returns, performance was close to the Performance Universe median.

Based on its review, the board concluded that each Master Fund's investment performance was acceptable.

Advisor profitability—The board received and considered a profitability analysis of UBS Global AM and its affiliates in providing services to the Master Funds and the Feeder Funds. The board also received profitability information with respect to the UBS New York fund complex as a whole. UBS Global AM's profitability was considered not excessive in light of the nature, extent and quality of the services provided to the Master Funds and the Feeder Funds.

Economies of scale—The board received and considered information from management regarding whether there have been economies of scale with respect to the management of the Master Funds, whether the Master Funds have appropriately benefited from any economies of scale, and whether there is potential for realization of any further economies of scale. The board considered whether economies of scale in the provision of services to the Master Funds were being passed along to the Feeder Funds' shareholders.

The board noted that although each Master Fund's Contractual Management Fee contained breakpoints at higher asset levels, economies of scale might inure more to UBS Global AM because UBS Global AM paid most of each Master Fund's non-management operating expenses under the "unitary" fee structure. Overall, the board considered the sharing of economies of scale with the shareholders of the Feeder Funds acceptable.

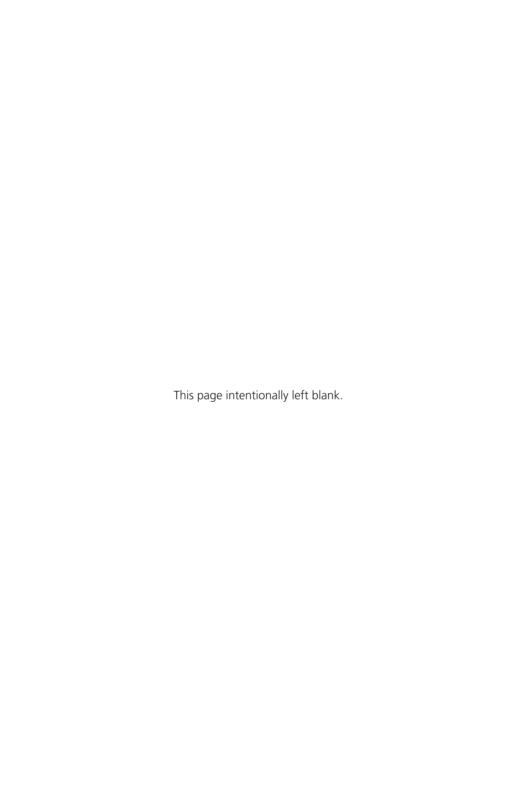

Other benefits to UBS Global AM—The board considered other benefits received by UBS Global AM and its affiliates as a result of its relationship with the Master Funds and the Feeder Funds, including the opportunity to offer additional products and services to the Feeder Funds' shareholders and to others. In light of the costs of providing investment advisory, administrative and other services to the Master Funds, the costs of providing administrative services to the Feeder Funds and UBS Global AM's ongoing commitment to the Master Funds and the Feeder Funds, the profits and other ancillary benefits that UBS Global AM and its affiliates received were considered reasonable.

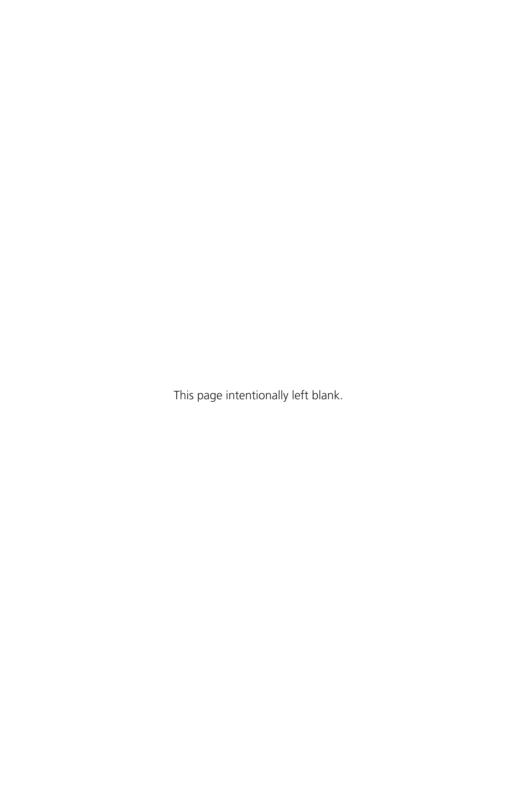

In light of all of the foregoing, the board approved the Management Contract. In making its decision, the board identified no single factor as being determinative in approving the Management Contract. The Independent Trustees were advised by separate independent legal counsel throughout the process. The board discussed the proposed continuance of the Management Contract in private sessions with their independent legal counsel at which no representatives of UBS Global AM were present.
