¹On November 2, 2018, CME Group Inc. (“CME”) acquired NEX Group plc (now known as NEX Group Limited, “NEX”) and its subsidiaries, including, without limitation, EBS Service Company Limited (“EBSSC”), NEX SEF Limited (“NSL”) and CME Amsterdam B.V. (“CABV”). Consequently, each of EBSSC, NSL and CABV is now indirectly and wholly owned by CME and is an affiliate of Chicago Mercantile Exchange Inc., which maintains and operates various other electronic interfaces and systems, including, but not limited to, CME Globex, CME ClearPort, CME Direct, ConfirmHub, Risk Management Interface, Front End Clearing, Drop Copy and CME Account Manager. EBSSC offers the EBS dealing service in accordance with the EBS Dealing Rules. NSL is regulated by the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) and U.K. Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) and operates the NEX SEF trading facility regulated as a Swap Execution Facility (as defined under the U.S. Commodity Exchange Act) and multilateral trading facility (as defined in the FCA Handbook). CABV operates and maintains the EBS MTF, regulated as a multilateral trading facility (as defined under the Markets in Financial Instruments (MiFID II) Directive 2014/65/EU) and is supervised by the Dutch Authority for the Financial Markets. For information on the products offered for trading on these platforms, please see the EBS website.
