(“CME Group”) (NASDAQ: CME) that are required to have a modern slavery statement in accordance with the Act. This is our seventh statement and covers the financial year ended 31 December 2023.

Respect for Human Rights

CME Group is committed to treating all of its colleagues with respect, dignity and ensuring safe working conditions. In support of this commitment, CME Group has adopted business principles, corporate values and ethical standards and through this Statement represents its commitment to challenge and confront the use of forced, compulsory, trafficked or child labor within its own organization and its supply chains.

Risk Assessment

As a financial services and technology company, CME Group believes that it operates within an industry with a low risk of supporting or encountering slavery or human trafficking, based on the nature of the relevant products and services as well as the locations of its significant operations (predominantly in the United States and the United Kingdom where such activities are prohibited). Additionally, CME Group’s supply chains are limited. Generally, we procure computer equipment as well as office supplies, equipment and services for the daily running of our businesses. In addition, from time to time, we use third party vendors and contractors for technology support and development, and for various advisory services. CME Group does not manufacture or sell any physical goods and, therefore, we have no supply chain relating to such activities.
Anti-Slavery Policy and Practices

Notwithstanding our low risk for supporting slavery or human trafficking, we are committed to essential ethical standards and mandates compliance with the laws and regulations in the jurisdictions where we operate and respect the human rights of others.

We have an established global corporate compliance and ethics program (the “Program”), which is designed to promote integrity and ethical business practices throughout our organization under the leadership of our MD Chief Enterprise Risk Management and Compliance Officer. The Program is overseen at the CME Group Board level by our Risk Committee.

Our policies reflect our commitment to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls designed to ensure slavery or human trafficking is not taking place anywhere in our business or supply chains.

CME Group employees and suppliers receive communications and education on our policies and expectations regarding adherence to those policies. Employees are required to comply with our Code of Conduct and third parties, including suppliers, are required to comply with the Guide to Conducting Business for Third Parties of CME Group Inc (the “Guide”), which includes a section on Respect, Inclusion and Non-Discrimination.

Employees

As described in more detail in our Environmental, Social and Governance (“ESG”) Reports, which cover our ESG program and strategy, we are focused on Workforce Empowerment. Our team members are the heart and soul of the company, and we invest in them through training, continuous development, and fostering a culture of inclusion and innovation.

We are dedicated to creating a workplace that respects each employee's human rights, and has established programs designed to ensure that the employment conditions of our people, and the interactions of our people with clients, vendors and other business partners are consistent with the regulations and laws in the jurisdictions in which we operate. We embrace diverse experiences, cultures and skills, working to ensure that all perspectives are acknowledged and valued. Employment at CME Group is based upon individual merit and qualifications directly related to professional competence. The company will not tolerate discrimination against anyone on the basis of any characteristic protected by applicable law in recruiting, hiring, placement, compensation, training, career development, promotion, discipline, grievances or redundancy and dismissal/termination.

We invest in the health and wellbeing of our employees, providing a range of wellness-related resources. We prioritize the health and safety of our colleagues, including adopting new policies and offering additional resources to help them navigate mental and physical health and caregiving challenges.

In addition, compensation and benefits play an important role in our ability to attract, retain and motivate our workforce. We are committed to providing competitive compensation for our employees, and benefits that support our employees’ needs, such as health and retirement benefits and other programs to support work-life balance. Information on the compensation program for our senior management group is set forth in our proxy statements.

Third Party Suppliers

We have an established dedicated Third Party Risk Management ("TPRM") Program. Through our TPRM Program, we have enhanced due diligence and risk assessment processes to identify any heightened risks of slavery or human trafficking. As part of TPRM’s due diligence activities, TPRM conducts an Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC") screen for all material third parties. The OFAC screen aims to identify and prevent any contracts being executed with countries, companies, or organizations which are under sanctions by the United States government. We also have in place policies and procedures and legal agreements that require third parties to comply with applicable laws and the standards of CME Group. Suppliers that are rated as higher risk in relation to potential human rights violations are subject to additional due diligence.

Reporting of Violations of the Slavery or Human Trafficking

Pursuant to the Code of Conduct, colleagues are obligated to report immediately any business conduct or other conduct of which they become aware that might raise a legal or ethical issue (including human rights issues, such as slavery and human trafficking) and any instance where it is observed that anyone is being treated in a manner inconsistent with our non-discrimination policies. To encourage reporting, we offer multiple reporting options (including an anonymous helpline) for employees and other third parties to make confidential reports, raise complaints and request guidance about compliance or ethical issues, including matters referred to in our policies. We promote these reporting options through our internal policies, communications and trainings. These reporting options provide an avenue through which we can ensure that any potential slavery, human trafficking or wider human rights impacts are identified and dealt with appropriately in our organization. Each report of suspected misconduct is investigated by appropriate groups within our organization and, where a violation of policy is substantiated, corrective action is taken. We also have a policy prohibiting retaliation for raising concerns based on the reasonable belief that misconduct has occurred.

Our Continuing Commitment

We will continue to engage with our people and vendors to raise awareness and to take further steps to ensure that slavery and human trafficking are not taking place within our business and supply chain.
