FROM: CME Clearing

SUBJECT: January 2024 Eligible Corporate Bonds, ETFs, and Stocks

DATE: January 4, 2023

CME Clearing accepts corporate bonds, ETFs and stocks for Base and IRS performance bond requirements. The January 2024 acceptable CUSIPs are now available via CME DataMine. Please refer to CME's website for further details regarding acceptable collateral criteria, haircuts, and limits.

CME Clearing utilizes The Depository Trust Company ("DTC") as the custodian for the stock, ETF, and corporate bond direct program. Clearing members can also pledge corporate bonds through an approved custodian bank.

Clearing members with an account at DTC can directly originate pledges of securities to a CME account and request the release of pledged securities. CME staff has direct access to DTC's Settlement Web Service to view clearing member pledges and approve release requests. Release transactions are not finalized until CME has approved the transactions. Clearing members have the opportunity to pledge securities in the morning to facilitate the release of a.m. cash calls or request the release of pledged securities. The deadline for entering morning transactions to be processed before the intraday settlement cycle is 10:30 a.m. CST. After the intraday cycle, clearing members have an additional opportunity to instruct pledges or to request the release of securities until approximately 1:30 p.m. CST.
