Condition of Force Majeure Load-Out Impossibility Reinstated Due to Flooding at a Majority of Corn and Soybean Shipping Stations on the Illinois River

Effective immediately and until further notice, pursuant to The Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc. ("CBOT" or "Exchange") Rules 701 ("Declaration of Force Majeure") and 703.C.G.(8) ("Barge Load-Out Procedures for Corn, Soybeans..."), CBOT is hereby declaring a condition of Force Majeure due to load-out impossibility at a majority of Corn and Soybean regular shipping stations on the Illinois River. Such shipping stations are unable to load due to high water levels and/or flooding.

As a result, CBOT Rule 703.C.G.(8) is in effect for ALL Corn and Soybean shipping stations.

The text of Rule 703.C.G.(8) states the following:

The shipper shall load water conveyance at the shipping station designated in the shipping certificate. If it becomes impossible to load at the designated shipping station for three (3) consecutive business days as a result of Force Majeure, the shipper will arrange for water conveyance to be loaded at another regular shipping station in conformance with the shipping certificate and will compensate the owner for any transportation loss resulting from the change in the location of the shipping station. If the aforementioned condition of impossibility prevails at a majority of regular shipping stations, then shipment may be delayed for the number of days that such impossibility prevails at a majority of regular shipping stations. If conditions covered in this rule make it impossible to load at the designated shipping station, the shipper shall notify the Registrar's Office in writing of such condition within 24 hours of when the condition of impossibility began.

Corn and Soybean shipping stations may register and deliver shipping certificates during conditions of Force Majeure. However, the Exchange, pursuant to CBOT Rule 701 hereby affirms that should the owner of newly registered or outstanding shipping certificates held during conditions of Force Majeure cancel them for load-out, and the shipping station that issued said shipping certificates is unable to load due to the conditions of Force Majeure, premium charges as described in Rules 10108 for Corn and Rule 11108 for Soybeans shall be suspended starting the calendar day following the day that loading orders are issued and ending on the calendar day prior to the day that the condition of Force Majeure is no longer in effect.

All calendar days during the condition of Force Majeure shall not count toward the three-day loading obligation shipping stations face following the receipt of loading orders and canceled shipping certificates (Rule 703.C.A.1.). Also, all business days during the condition of Force Majeure shall not count toward the two-business-day window owners of shipping certificates have to decide against loading out grain (Rule 703.C.C.). However, should an owner decide during the Force Majeure conditions or within two days following the end of Force Majeure conditions to have shipping certificates re-issued, the owner shall be responsible for all premium charges during the Force Majeure period.
