

Stock Index Price Limits to be Revised Effective for 4th Quarter 2011

Exchange price limit rules for domestic stock index futures call for a quarterly re-assessment of price limits based on prevailing market prices. Limits are calculated quarterly at the close of business on the day preceding the commencement of a new calendar quarter. New limits shall become effective with the commencement of Electronic Trading Hours (ETH) on Sunday October, 2, at 5:00 p.m. Central time. The revised limits shall be applicable throughout the fourth calendar quarter of 2011.

If limits are calculated using data collected through Thursday, September 22, price limits for the fourth calendar quarter of 2011 will be as set forth below. The official calculation will occur at the close of business on Friday, September 30. Details of the revised limits will appear on the CME Group's Web site at www.cmegroup.com shortly thereafter, and a Special Executive Report will appear on the exchange floor before the opening of Regular Trading Hours (RTH) on Monday, October 3. Pro-forma limits and bands may be calculated as follows.

The Exchange's circuit breakers are re-assessed quarterly rather than established at fixed levels insofar as fixed limits are not responsive to on-going market fluctuations. CME and CBOT rules are designed to coordinate with circuit breaker provisions as applied by the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE).

The NYSE enforces limits at 10%, 20% and 30% declines of the Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA), calculated at the beginning of each calendar quarter, using the average closing value of the DJIA for the prior month, rounded to the nearest 50 points. Pro-forma limits may be calculated at 1,200, 2,400 and 3,600 (limits were at 1,100, 2,250 and 3,350 index points during the previous calendar quarter).

Please consult the CME or CBOT Rulebook for a complete description of the application of the circuit breaker provisions or direct any inquiries to Lucy Wang, CME Group Research and Product Development at 312-648-5478, or John Nyhoff, CME Group Research & Product Development at 312-930-2310.
